First Congressional District Convention.

There will be a Republican Convention for the First Congressional District of Wisconsin held at Clinton Junction, on Thursday, Aug. 30, 1888, at two o'clock p. m., for the purpose of placing in nomination a Republican candidate for Member of Congress; also to elect a Congressional District Committee for the ensuing two years, and for the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the convention.

The several counties in the District will be entitled to representation as follows: Jefferson 4; Kenosha, 3; Racine, 8; Rock, 13; Walworth, 9.

W. H. HUNTLEY, Ch'n Com.
G. A. YULE, Sec'y.

THE WORK OF THE STATE CONVENTION.

The result of the balloting for a nominee for the office of governor by the republican state convention, was not a surprise to the friends of Mr. Hoard. It was a foregone conclusion as early as a week before the convention that the dominant sentiment among republicans in this state was for him. The Sentinel's estimate of his strength, as well as that of the other candidates, was found to be made with a surprisingly accurate understanding of the situation throughout the state; and when on the informal ballot, Mr. Hoard received 137 votes, within 26 of a number sufficient to nominate him, it was plain to see that no combination could prevent the nomination of the "Abraham Lincoln of Wisconsin." So on the first formal ballot after the convention had two hours' time for thought and refreshments, the vote passed the figures necessary for him to receive, and with rounds of applause and plenty of good cheer, the nomination was made unanimous.

We want to introduce to the reader of the Gazette, the little speech Mr. Hoard made when the committee of five escorted him to the convention hall and Judge Orton, the chairman, presented him to the vast audience. The speech speaks for itself, but we take the liberty of saying that as a touch of eloquence, and in all respects timely and appropriate, it has never been surpassed in this state by the acceptance speech or any previous gubernatorial nominee. It is well worth reading, and the sentiment therein well worth pondering:

"Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention: This is a strange experience to me and you will pardon me if I am somewhat unused to it. You will also pardon me, I hope, if, on this occasion I but exemplify that saying that "none feel the inadequacy of language like the grateful." I tender to you gentlemen of the convention, and through you to the republican party of Wisconsin, my heartfelt thanks for this marked expression of your confidence and esteem. I certainly can do no more, and I certainly can wish to do no less than to here pledge to you that what I am, and what I hope to be, shall be devoted to the honor of this commonwealth and the republican party of this state. [Cheers.]

"I do not feel, gentlemen, that your choice has fallen on the shoulders of experience or upon the head of talent; but I do feel that if called upon to accept and take this this high office, I have behind me the hearty good will and the strong, resolute support of the republican party in Wisconsin. Entrenched in that, I certainly have hope for success.

"We are now about to enter upon a great national campaign. For years their has come to my unwilling ears the remark from lukewarm republicans that there is no difference in the parties; that the struggle has degenerated into one of a mere scramble for the offices. I thank heaven, and from heaven to its unwilling instrument Grover Cleveland, for having been relieved of this dilemma any longer. [Applause.] There is difference, and that difference is making it self felt through the whole of this great nation. The struggle has commenced, and that difference is being felt, as like a ground swelling. The convictions of men are fast crystallizing into defense of those principles which you and I have held so dear through all these years that have passed and gone. The central question for you and I as individuals forming in the aggregate the republican party of this state and the nation, to determine is the simple one of patriotism. [Applause.] The republican has, thank God, a patriotic record. [Applause.] It has a record that has no drawbacks; nothing to call the blush of shame to the cheek of the humblest republican, the humblest adherent to the party.

"And, gentlemen, we are now confronted with a question that finds its central root in the very elements of patriotism. The doctrine of free trade today can be indicted most strongly because it is unpatriotic. No finer definition of patriotism was ever offered than that of St. Paul where he says, 'He that careth not for his own is worse than a heathen.' [Applause.] Take that with you, that simple phrase of holy writ. Carry it with you when you are stumbling through the mazes of all sophisms and arguments. Take it with you for the solution of this question of to day. Whether we shall stand by the American laborer, the American soldier, American history and American destiny for all time to come. He that careth not for his own is worse than a heathen.

"Again gentlemen, in the simplest phrase that I can muster, I thank you for the magnificent expression of your esteem towards me, one of the humblest members of the party; and I pledge you that all I am and all I hope to be, as I said before, shall be devoted to your honor, which, I hope, I most religeously hold in keeping. There is nothing more to be said except this: I am very glad to be informed that during all your councils here, that spirit of harmony, that spirit of conciliation and that spirit of a wise understanding and adjustment of differences has kept pace with all your deliberations. It is a pleasant augury of coming success. I know gentlemen, that as you have placed me in this responsible situation, I shall meet at your hands the most hearty encouragement, support and sympathy, and even commiseration for my weakness. Again I thank your." [Cheers.]

The nomination of Captain Timme, for secretary of state, was a matter of course. Only one ballot was taken, and his vote reached 219 when only 109 was necessary to a choice. Mr. Quarles, of Racine, made the nominating speech for Capt. Timme, and it is very safe to say that it was one of the finest, most touching and ingenious speeches of the kind ever delivered before a state nominating convention. All the other nominees were placed on the ticket by acclamation.

Mr. Gilson, of Milwaukee, offered a resolution that hereafter Milwaukee county be permitted to choose its delegates to the state convention by assembly districts, instead of by county convention. By request Rock county was included in the resolution and it was adopted.

Reports received at the Indianapolis headquarters of the Lincoln League are encouraging. One club from the lower part of the state reports 102 members, thirteen of whom were formerly democrats. This is no uncommon thing. In all the rosters that have been sent in the significant note, "Formerly a Democrat," is found, and in many of the clubs it appears with a frequency that shows considerable of a change in the political complexion of the state. One of the significent features of the campaign is that a large number of greenbackers, formerly republicans, but who have been out of harmony with the party for some times, are renewing their allegiance to the banner of their first adoption. The gain from the prohibitionists is another significant feature. Reports show that many men who have formerly been identified with that party are severing their connection with it and propose to act with the republicans this year.

Henry Watterson says that the democratic party "is a free trade party or it is nothing," and that "the democrat who is not a free-trader should go elsewhere." As a sample of the way anti-free trade democrats are "going elsewhere," we quote the following from the Des Moines Register: A prominent New York business man who was in Des Moines yesterday said he knew personally of 600 democrats in his locality who had come out for Harrison and protection. He believes the republicans will carry New York with an overwhelming majority.

In Vermont the campaign is being prosecuted by the republicans with as much earnestness as if the state was classed among those termed doubtful. The state election occurs on Tuesday, September 4th, and the only question, of course, is as to the size of the republican majority. There is a clear understanding among the Green Mountain republicans in regard to the momentousness of the great issue before the country, and their preliminary utterances will doubtless be emphatic and unmistakable.

At a recent meeting of the democratic national committee, according to democratic authority, much time was spent in debate over "states that may be won." Texas was undoubtedly on the list. If these gentlemen will begin to consider "states that may be lost" they will find the list about as follows: New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Indiana, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Florida and Tennessee, and with a fair ballot and fair count Louisana, and possibly several other states yet to be heard from.

The New York Sun democratic, but brilliant and progressive, remarks: "Candor requires us to testify that some of General Harrison's recent speeches have been excellent specimens of the popularity ad captandum, off-hand style of stump eloquence. There is good deal in Harrison and that is lucky for him." It is this "ad captandum" and so forth, that makes the gloom so thick about the democratic headquarters in Washington that you can cut it with a knife.

Robert T. Lincoln brings word from England that everybody there anticipates Mr. Cleveland's election and thereby hopes to receive free trade with this country to the benefit of their own. Of course they do. That is what the democratic party is here for. But they will be mistaken. This country will manage its own political affairs this year, and will send Cleveland to Buffalo.

The New York Herald, editorially discussing Crowley, the favorit monkey in Central Park, says: "Poor Crowley! There is a bond of sympathy between him and the rest of us that is closer than we are willing to acknowledge." It is a strange condition of democratic politics that makes the Herald take such a forbidding view of life.

If the cows should feel a little more frisky this fall than usual, and should roam the meadows in a kicking-up-the-heel style, you must remember that they are having a little fun by the grace of the republican party. The cow is certainly boss.

There was one motto which arched the platform of the republican state convention, which is going to tell in this campaign, and it is that on which republicans base their platform, and it is this: "America is good enough for us."

A democrat in Milwaukee, and he is a man of good judgment too, thinks the nomination of Hoard will add ten thousand votes to the republican ticket.

The Boilers Explode Killing Eighteen Persons Standing near the Mills.

Special to the Gazette.

NEENAH, Wis., Aug. 23—The George Whiting paper mills, located near this city, were destroyed by fire last night. While the large structure was in flames and surrounded by an immense crowd of people from the city, a battery of boilers exploded, killing eighteen persons outright and fatally injuring many more.

IN CONGRESS.

The Work Done by Senators and Representatives on Wednesday.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Senator Chandler's (N. H.) speech on the election frauds in the Louisiana State elections last April was the chief feature in the Senate proceedings.

A Senate bill appropriating $75,000 for a public building in Kalamazoo, Mich., and the bill granting a pension of $3,500 a year to the widow of General Sheridan were reported and placed on the calendar.

Senator Beck (Ky.) offered as an amendment to the House Tariff bill an additional section suspending all laws relating to the sinking fund, and had it referred to the Committee on Finance, also a bill to repeal all sinking fund laws, which was allowed to lie on the table. Senator Beck said he could name ten men to-day who could purchase bonds and hold them and force the Secretary of the Treasury as the law now stood to pay a hundred million dollars for every hundred millions of bonds he purchased.

The joint resolution appropriating $200,000 to prevent the introduction of cholera or yellow fever in the United States was passed. The money was made immediately available.

Senator Chandler called up his resolution heretofore offered relating to fraud and violence in the last Louisiana election and submitted extended remarks upon them. In spite of the suspicious character of the face of the returns, which showed 126,746 votes cast, with a majority for Nicoll of 84,753; while the Presidential vote of Louisiana in 1884 was only 62,540, with a majority of only 16,130 for Cleveland. He denounced the pretended vote as the result of a deliberate conspiracy of wrong and crime on the part of the then Governor, McEnery, and of the present Governor, Nicoll—two stupendous criminals against free suffrage, two instigators of intimidations and murder of voters, two leaders of thousands of reckless lawbreaking election officers, and of desperate, bloody and brutal tortures and murders of black voters in their own State. He denounced it as a subversion of the Senate of the United States which was to be invaded as one of its results. Senator Chandler read many statements as to the intimidation of Republican voters, and cited from the New Orleans Times-Democrat a full descriptive account of the recent killing of ten negroes in Frecktown, Iberia parish. Pending conclusion of Senator Chandler's speech the Senate at 5:15 adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Mr. Townshend (Ill.) presented the conference report on the Army Appropriation bill, and after discussion the report was postponed until to-day. Mr. Herbert (Ala.) presented the conference report on the Navy Appropriation bill, which after some debate was adopted. The House then, in committee of the whole, took up the General Deficiency bill. An amendment offered by Mr. Burnes (Mo.), appropriating $62,487 to meet a deficiency for railway mail transportation was adopted. Another amendment appropriating $38,000 to reimburse the State of Kentucky for expenses incurred in suppressing the rebellion was also adopted. Mr. Burnes then raised a point of order upon the first paragraph of the French spoliation claims section of the bill. Pending discussion, and without a decision, on the point of order the House at 5 p. m. adjourned.

HOARD WINS.

He is Named by Wisconsin Republicans to Succeed Governor Rusk—Make-Up of the Rest of the State Ticket—The Platform.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 23.—The Republican State convention yesterday nominated the following ticket: Governor, W. D. Hoard; Lieutenant-Governor, George W. Ryland; Secretary of State, Ernst G. Timme; State Treasurer, Robert B. Harshaw; Attorney-General, Charles E. Estabrook; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Jesse B. Thayer; Railroad Commissioner, Atley Peterson; Insurance Commissioner, Philip Check, Jr. The platform adopted is as follows:

"The Republicans of Wisconsin, by their representatives in convention assembled, hereby approve of the nomination of Benjamin Harrison for President and Levi P. Morton for Vice-President, as candidates worthy of the warm and united support of the Republican party. They approve of the platform adopted by the National Republican convention in June last, as outlining the policy best calculated to maintain and promote the welfare of the country, and the prosperity of the people of all classes and occupations.

"With regard to the affairs of the State they offer as the best guarantee for the future and the strongest claim to the continued confidence of the people the record of the present Republican administration and its predecessors; that is a record of the honest, economical, impartial and judicial application of sound business methods to the various departments of the State government.

"In connection, this convention desires to express its recognition of the fidelity, ability and efficiency with which Governor J. M. Rusk has discharged the duties of his responsible office; honest, courageous and just, he has held the office of Governor longer than any of his predecessors, and has so borne himself as to win the respect and esteem of the whole people, irrespective of party divisions."

Missouri Democrats.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Aug. 23.—The Democratic State convention was called to order at noon yesterday. After transacting the usual routine business a recess of two hours was taken. At 3 o'clock the convention settled down to work. The nominating speeches lasted nearly three hours. About 6 o'clock a ballot was taken for Governor, and D. R. Francis, mayor of St. Louis, received the nomination by over 100 majority. A recess until 9 p. m. was then taken. At the evening session, after an hour had been consumed in speech-making, six candidates were presented for Lieutenant-Governor. At midnight three ballots had been taken without a nomination.

Lots of Information.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The Secretary of the Navy has transmitted to the Senate the information called for by Senator Chandler's resolutions relating to the construction of the so-called Roach cruisers and for other plans and contracts. The information filled about 30,000 pages of manuscript, and piled upon the floor stood six feet high. It took fourteen men seven months to compile, and it will form probably the largest document ever sent to Congress from an Executive department.

The Steamer City of Chester, Loaded with Passengers, Struck by the Oceanic in a Thick Fog—She Sinks in Five Minutes.

DISASTER ON THE PACIFIC.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The steamer City of Chester was run into and sunk in San Francisco bay yesterday by the Occidental and Oriental steamer Oceanic, and as far as can now be ascertained thirteen people went down with here. The City of Chester left for her regular trip to Eureka at 9 o'clock with an unusually large number of passengers. When within two miles of the heads she encountered the thick fog so peculiar to that locality, and slowed down and began blowing her whistle. When off Port Point the whistle of another steamer was heard, and Captain Wallace, of the City of Chester, gave the proper warning for the stranger to pass on the port side. The signal was evidently misunderstood, for the next moment the prow of the Oceanic, which had just arrived from Hong Kong and Yokohama, emerged from the fog. The huge steamer was so close that there was no possibility for the Chester to escape, and Captain Wallace called to the cabin passengers, most of whom were on deck, to prepare for the shock. The Oceanic struck the Chester on the port gangway and her prow crashed into the middle section of the ill-fated craft, cutting her nearly in two and causing her to reel under the terrible blow.

A scene of the wildest confusion ensued. The passengers crowded together, some shrieking with fear and others praying for help, while the officers and crew seemed to lose their wits altogether. At the moment of the collision a number of the City of Chester's passengers were passed over the Oceanic's bow and rescued in this way, and it is said that several of the Chester's crew left their passengers to shift for themselves and were the first on the Oceanic's decks. As soon as the large steamer could clear herself she swung around and immediately began to lower her boats. The passengers on the Chester also managed to clear away one of her boats. Others provided themselves with life-preservers and jumped overboard, but the greater portion went down with the doomed vessel, which began to settle immediately after the collision. Torrents of water rushed into her hold, and in five minutes after the collision the Chester disappeared and sunk in fifty fathoms of water. Those of the passengers and crew who came to the surface were picked up by the Oceanic's boats.

It was at first thought that the number of drowned would foot up thirty-four, which included twenty-one of the twenty-three steerage passengers, but from the latest information obtainable from the steamship officials it is believed that only thirteen persons were lost. This includes ten of the seventy cabin passengers and three of the crew. None of the survivors were landed until after 1 o'clock, and at a late hour there was still much doubt as to the number of those lost.

The City of Chester was an iron steamer which had been in the coast trade for many years. She was built at Chester, Pa., in 1875, and was the property of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company. She formerly ran to Portland, and was valued at $150,000 and was insured in San Francisco and Eastern companies for about half that sum. She had about 200 tons of assorted cargo in her hold, worth $40,000.]

IOWA REPUBLICANS.

They Meet at Des Moines, Name a State Ticket and Adopt a Platform.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 23.—The result of the Republican State convention is considered a granger victory, although the contests were in no case bitter, and the gathering was as harmonious as it was largely attended. General Tuttle was selected as temporary chairman, and in his speech advocated the reduction of the Treasury surplus by the payment of pensions to all honorably discharged soldiers, and defended the protective tariff. Senator Young was chosen permanent chairman, and after his speech nominations were at once proceeded with. Frank S. Jackson for Secretary of State and J. A. Lyon for Auditor had no opposition, and were nominated by acclamation. Captain Twombley was nominated by acclamation for Treasurer during the first ballot, General Beeson withdrawing. Judge Granger was nominated for Supreme Court Judge on the second ballot. For Railway Commissioners Messrs. Smith, Campbell and Mahin were nominated. A full list of Presidential electors were also chosen.

The platform indorses the Chicago platform and the nomination of Harrison and Morton; demands a complete legislative control of the railroads; indorses the prohibitory laws; favors bi-metalism; expresses sympathy with the people of Dakota, who are unjustly debarred from Statehood; favors pensions to veteran soldiers and denounces President Cleveland's vetoes of pension bills; expresses sorrow at the death of General Sheridan, and concludes by denouncing the Democratic majority in the House for its refusal to pass the bill refunding the direct war tax.

Harrison at Rest.

PUT-IN-BAY, Lake Erie, O., Aug. 23.—The steam yacht Sigma, of Toledo, owned by S. C. Reynolds, arrived here at 2 p. m. yesterday with General Harrison and party on board. Owing to high winds and a heavy sea the yacht did not stop at Middle Bass, but came direct to Put-in-Bay, and came to anchor. The afternoon was passed quietly by the General on board the yacht. About 5 o'clock the wind abated, and the yacht went to Middle Bass and landed the distinguished party. The General stood the trip bravely, though somewhat fatigued after this trip to Toledo. General Harrison positively declined to talk politics, and has settled down in the Borden cottage, where he will remain for two weeks the guest of the Middle Bass Club.

THE ASTROLOGERS and Wise Men of olden times demonstrated, and later human experience has verified their demonstrations, that the good or ill fortune of every person is confined to one of 12 different degrees, and is strictly governed by the Star that ruled the Fates during the month in which the person was born, as explained below. From this mysterious realm of power has been calculated this unerring Fortune Teller. Try its predictions.

EXPLANATION.—The inner Circle will predict your Fortune in Business Affairs. The next Circle, in Affairs of Love. The next Circle, your General Future. The outer Circle, in Domestic Affairs.

If your birthday occurs between Jan. 1st and 25th, (inclusive), your Star is Venus; Jan. 26 and Feb. 23, Jupiter; Feb. 24 and March 10, Sirius; March 20 and April 15, Saturn; April 16 and May 21, Mars; May 22 and June 18, Mercury; June 19 and July 27, Capella; July 28 and August 21, Cynet; August 22 and Sept. 20, Uranus; Sept. 21 and Oct. 19, Neptune; Oct. 20 and Nov. 17, Mira; Nov. 17 to Dec. 21, Rigel. To predict your fortune in any business affairs, find the Star under which you were born, then select any letter under that Star and in the Business Circle, (the inner one), and write down the letter; then proceed to select every fifth letter in that Circle, (going in the direction of the arrows) and write the letters in a line. By reading from the proper point in the line, your fortune will be clearly described.

As an example, the following is a prediction, and reads "Rich in Old Age."

THURMAN ON THE ISSUES.

He Opens the Michigan Campaign at Port Huron.

A WARM RECEPTION TO THE OLD ROMAN.

His Remarks Mainly Devoted to the Tariff Question—The Appearance of His Famous Bandana Greeted with Cheers.

DEMOCRATIC DOCTRINE EXPOUNDED.

PORT HURON, Mich., Aug. 23.—The run of the Thurman party from Oakland here was marked by nothing of greater public interest than salutations from the shore, the Vice-Presidential candidate responding with a wave of his hat.

As Port Huron was reached the signs of a great day's demonstration appeared. Crowds were waving handkerchiefs and cheering lustily; residences were resplendent in bunting and flags; boats in every direction turned loose their whistles. At the landing the reception was an ovation to make any aspiring statesman proud. The crowd was a great mass of humanity. Old and young were there, yelling for all they were worth. The local Democratic clubs were there in white hats, and with canes, flags, whistles, the blare of bands, a big procession and tastefully decorated buildings, the scene was inspiring. The crowd proceeded at once to the park where the speeches were made.

As the crowd filed in a mighty yell rose into repeated cheers as the old Roman appeared upon the stand and bowed acknowledgment. Ex-Mayor O'Neill, of Port Huron, introduced the Judge in a brief address, and then Mr. Thurman began his speech. In it he discussed exhaustively the question of tariff, with the collateral questions of labor, wages, farming and commercial interests and the disposition of the surplus.

Mr. Thurman esteemed it a very great privilege to speak in Michigan, because of the character of the people to whom he would talk. He would discuss the tariff question. He would defy any man who had regard for the truth to say that Grover Cleveland had not made a good President, and here followed a glowing tribute to the Chief Executive. Speaking from personal knowledge and careful observation, he also paid compliment to Don M. Dickinson as one of the President's band of good constitutional advisers. He defined tariff as a tax levied by the general Government upon every article of commerce coming into the United States. We have $115,000,000 of surplus revenue lying perfectly idle, and taken from the pockets of the people, where it properly belongs, and whose prosperity it would assure. The Democratic party took exception to this, and insisted that taxes should be reduced so that the surplus shall not increase. The Republicans took the converse of the proposition. The Democrats would take no more money from the pockets of the people than is actually necessary to meet the legitimate expenses of the Government.

The issue, then, is clearly made up between the two parties. It is between high taxation on the one hand and reasonable taxation on the other. It is between taking the money of the people out of their own control, out of their own pockets and burying it in the cellars of the Treasury Department, or leaving it where it belongs—in the pockets of the people—to be used as their wants, their requirements, their intelligence and interest direct.

The speaker was interrupted at this point by a well-meaning gentleman on the platform, who suggested that, as the sun was shining in his face, Judge Thurman might feel more comfortable if he stepped more within the shade. "Oh," said Mr. Thurman quickly, causing a roar of laughter, "the sun never hurt a Democrat," and facing the audience again he continued his speech.

Mr. Thurman said the protectionists were peculiarly aggressive this year, and widely at variance with the truth of fact and reason. They proposed to make the country wealthy by taxing the people. They had the audacity to say that the consumer did not pay the tax. In overthrowing this proposition, the Judge pursued the same line of argument as in his Toledo speech. He said:

"Now, my friends, if you will reflect for a moment you will see that it is necessarily the case that the tariff taxes are paid by the consumers of the articles which are taxed and of all domestic articles of a like kind which are manufactured in the United States; for it is a curious fact, and one of the worst things about this tariff tax, that while the Government gets $1 resulting from the tax the domestic manufacturers get $5, as it is best estimated, that never goes into the Treasury at all. [Great cheering.] Well, how does this happen? A man called an importer brings goods into the United States to be sold. He can not sell a yard or a pound until he pays this tariff tax. He pays the tax, therefore, and then sells to the wholesale merchant. Of course he must get this tax back in the price for which he sells or he would lose money and his business would break up at once. He would stop it, and therefore he puts the tax on to the original cost of the goods, and with that price added and with the cost of transportation and his reasonable commercial profits he sells those goods to the wholesale merchant. The wholesale merchant sells to the retail merchant, and of course this tax which enters into the price continues in the price, and to it is added the profit of the merchant. Then the retail merchants sells to you, and of course he must keep within this price, for otherwise he would sell for less than he gave for the goods, and no man of sense would do that. Therefore the tax is in it when the cloth is sold to you, and you, in the price you pay this retail merchant for the goods, pay the whole of the tariff, the importer's profit, the wholesale merchant's profit and the retail merchant's profit, besides interest on their money. It is as plain as that two and two make four. If I were a schoolmaster and teaching a boy 10 years old and he could not understand that with ten minutes' instruction I would give him up as a hopeless idiot. [Great laughter and applause.]

"Well, now, that is the fact in respect to this. How much do they pay? Why, the amount of goods imported into the United States—of dutiable goods—in the year 1887, the last year for which we have any returns, were in value $450,325,322. The tariff duties collected were $212,032,424. There were, therefore, in that single year taxes levied in the United States by the operation of this tariff law of $212,032,424, which went into the Treasury of the United States. But that, as I have told you, was the least part of the burden. The domestic manufactures of the same kind of commodities amounted that year to $5,350,579,191. And, as the price of those goods was raised by the tariff in nearly equal proportions to the price of the goods that were imported into the country, the amount which the people paid in these high prices of what they had to buy and had to use amounted to about $1,000,000,000, or five times as much as the tax received by the Government for the use of the Government. In other words, the whole country was taxed about $1,000,000,000 for the benefit of a comparatively small portion of the country. And that is said to be justice; that is said to be fair play; that is said to be for the benefit of the American people. I know there are a few cases, but they are very few and exceptional and not of sufficient importance to make it necessary for me to speak of them to-day in the limited time I have to speak, in which the duty, or tariff tax, is not all paid by the consumer, but they are so trifling in amount and so insignificant that it is not necessary that I should occupy your time with them."

The speaker showed that through the high-tariff system the burden of taxation placed upon the entire people was $100,000,000, or nearly five times the amount required for the running expenses of the Government. [Here the Judge blew a trumpet-blast on his historic bandana, and everybody laughed as they cheered.] "Gentlemen, that's a good, honest handkerchief, but had it not been for high protective tariff I could have bought it cheaper."

Judge Thurman adduced distinguished authorities against high tariff. Among them were John Quincy Adams and the late President Arthur. The latter, in one of his messages to Congress, had said:

"I recommend the enlargement of the free list so as to include within it the numerous articles which yield inconsiderable revenue, a simplification of the complex and inconsistent schedule of duties on certain manufactures, particularly on cotton, iron and steel, and a substantial reduction on these articles and upon sugar, molasses, wool and woolen goods."

The speaker said that was what the Democrats were striving to do. That was precisely what the Mills bill attempted to do, and yet those gentlemen who are howling around about the beauties of protection and the ruin the Democrats are bringing on the country say that this thing which President Arthur recommended only so recently is nothing in the world but free trade. Said he:

"Now, so far from this Mills bill being free trade, the most striking thing about it is that it is the most most modest reduction of tariff duties that has almost ever been attempted in this country. The average duties levied under the present tariff are 47 per cent. Under the Mills bill the average duties will be only about 40 per cent. A more reduction of 7 per cent. on all the duties taken together. Of course there are some things upon which the duties are reduced more. For instance, duties taken off a number of articles called raw material which are used by the manufacturers in their work in the fabrication of their product. And as they receive this great benefit of having their raw materials free, or at a comparatively small duty, the bill wisely provides that articles manufactured by them when brought into this country shall pay a lower rate of duty than they did before, but that is nothing more than a compensation for taking off duty on raw materials."

Mr. Thurman ridiculed the claim of Republicans that protection benefited the working-men, who, he said, were taxed from head to heel by the tariff. He said:

"And yet they say that this is for the benefit of the laboring man. My friends, that is a very bald-faced statement, if there ever was one in the world. But there is another thing about it. How is he to get these high wages? Why, he is to get them because his employer, the capitalist or monopolist, will make more money and therefore can afford to pay his employes or hired men higher wages than he paid them before. I agree that he could; I agree that it increases his profits; I agree that he might, having these increased profits, pay his laboring men more than they were paid before. But does he do it? That is the question. [Applause and cries of "No, no."] Did you ever know him to do it? [Cries of "No, no."] The tariff has been raised again and again and again; it was immensely raised by the tariff of 1861 or '63, I forgot which of those years it was. It was raised in a few years again, and it has been raised again and again and again, and yet in all that time I never have been able to find the manufacturer or the capitalist who upon the raising of the tariff had increased the price paid to his laborers. If there was such a case it has escaped the attention of every body.

"But, my friends, we have had now, for twenty-seven years nearly, the highest tariff that this country ever knew; fully on an average twice as high as it was before the war; we have had that high tariff all this time. Now, if that high tariff is so much for the benefit of the laboring men, why have not the laboring men in these twenty-seven years grown rich, I should like to know? Have they? [Cries of "No, no."] If they have they are very unreasonable men, for every year, not a year passes over our heads that we do not hear of strikes of the laborers because they demand more wages and say they can not live on what they receive. Again and again we hear of what are called lockouts—that is where the employers suspend operations and lock up their mills because they say they can not afford to pay any more wages than they did pay. Why are these strikes? Why are these lockouts? Why are there such institutions as labor unions? So as to secure better wages. Why is there such an institution as the Knights of Labor? To prevent laboring men from being imposed upon and to increase their compensation. Why is there a necessity for all these things and all these extensive and worthy organizations if a high tariff gives high wages to the laborer? No man can answer that question."

The speaker referred to the freedom of the South, the proteges of the Republicans, who are not protected by a tariff on cotton and are made to pay a tax on the necessaries of life.

He then demonstrated by statistics that wages in New England and in other parts of the United States averaged but a few cents higher than in England, and that the more dense the population the greater is the competition among wage-earners and the lower the wages. He admitted that as a rule wages were higher in the United States than in Europe, but attributed this condition to the greater thrift and intelligence of American working-men, to the organization of labor, the uncultivated territory of the United States affording an outlet for surplus labor, and to the consciousness of freedom of the American wage-earner. He showed further that where a million wage-earners are employed in protected industries, eight times as many are employed in unprotected industries. The farm hand of Ohio, he said, unprotected by tariff, earns $1 a day, while the protected wage-earner of New England earns only an average wage of $1.04 a day.

Judge Thurman cited statistics to show that farm lands increased in value largely and rapidly under the Walker tariff of 1846, now denounced as a free tariff, while under the present high tariff the increase has been slight and slow. From 1850 to 1860, under low tariff, the increase was 103 per cent; under high tariff, from 1860 to 1870, only 40 per cent., and from 1870 to 1880 only 9 per cent. The speaker then quoted John Sherman's opinion, expressed before the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce, that the surplus should be reduced, read his own utterances of 1870 opposing the immigration of the Chinese and the importation of cheap labor as dangerous to the prosperity and liberty of the people, and declared them to be his opinion to-day. He warned his hearers against the danger that the surplus will breed corruption, and cited the decline of American shipping and commerce as an evil attributable to the tariff.

Judge Thurman's voice was clear and strong and he was easily heard by every one in the audience. Congressman Hatch, of Missouri, followed Mr. Thurman, speaking on the tariff. After the speaking Mr. Thurman was presented with a gold-headed cane.

A Church Tower Falls.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The tall tower of the new Church of the Covenant, Rev. Dr. Hamlin pastor, fell with a tremendous crash, taking with it the entire front portion of the edifice. The loss is estimated at from $15,000 to $20,000. The cause is not yet ascertained.

Growth Under Difficulties.

Some men, like some horses, need the whip and spur to make them do their best. They will take their ease, if they can. It is only when they are placed in circumstances which compel them to put forth all their energies that they show what is in them. Many a minister has surpassed the expectations of himself and his friends because his field of labor forced him to do his best. If he did not preach well and labor faithfully neighboring pastors would eclipse him and build up their congregations at the expense of his. The opposite of this is true. Lacking the stimulus of friendly rivalry, not a few pastors have ceased to grow at an early period of their ministry. Similar illustrations could be drawn from professions and trades. In choosing their field of labor, the young should not look for an easy place. If they would make high attainments in usefulness, they must put themselves in circumstances which will develop their powers.—United Presbyterian.

IT is a wise Providence that we can not see the future. We can see through one pane of glass easily, but through ten placed together we can not see, yet each is transparent. By living a day at a time we get along well and all is clear; but we can not, with our finite vision, see through all the purposes of God concerning us.—Golden Censer.

Renew Her Youth.

Mrs. Phœbe Chesley, Peterson, Clay Co., Iowa, tells the following remarkable story, the truth of which is vouched for by the residents of the town: I am 73 years old, have been troubled with kidney complaint and lameness for many years; could not dress myself without help. Now I am free from all pain and soreness; and am able to do my own housework. I owe my thanks to Electric Bitters for having renewed my youth and removed completely all disease and pain." CLOSED HIS CAREER.

Death of Hon. C. W. Cathcart, Ex-United States Senator from Indiana.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 23.—Hon. C. W. Cathcart, ex-United States Senator from Indiana and an old resident of this county, died at his country residence, south of this city, yesterday morning, aged 79.

[Charles W. Cathcart was born in the island of Madeira in 1809. After following the sea for several years he settled in La Porte, Ind., in 1831 and became a farmer. For several years he was land surveyor for the United States and also served in the State Legislature. He was elected to the Twenty-ninth Congress and re-elected to the Thirtieth, serving until March, 1849, when he was chosen United States Senator from Indiana to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James Whitcomb. He served until March 3, 1853, and has since devoted himself to farming.]

The Rejected Treaty.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Pall Mall Gazette, referring to the rejection of the fisheries treaty, says that it is thankful that the Chamberlain mission has not made the difficulty more serious than it was before. Senator Morgan's speech, it says, was buncome. The rejection of the treaty simply relegates the whole question to an amicable settlement after the Presidential election. The paper continues: "Neither Englishmen or Americans are lunatics, and the world will not be plunged into a bath of blood because opinions differ over a kettle of fish. The matter will be again negotiated after the election, and in the meantime we can cultivate India rubber-like forbearance and a cool temper."

An Explanation

What is this nervous trouble with which so many seem now to be afflicted. If you will remember a few years ago the word malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and are all caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channels is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous.

Hay Fever.

I have suffered greatly from periodical returns of hay fever. Covert & Cheever, druggists, suggested Ely's Cream Balm. I used it during a severe attack. I can cheerfully testify as to the immediate and continued relief obtained by its use. I heartily recommend it to those suffering from this or kindred complaints.—(Rev.) H. A. Smith, Clinton, Wis.

FOR OLD PEOPLE!

In old people the nervous system is weakened, and that must be strengthened. One of the most prominent medical writers of the day, in speaking of the prevalence of rheumatic troubles among the aged, says: "The various pains, rheumatic or other, which old people often complain of, and which materially disturb their comfort, result from disordered nerves." There it is in a nut shell—the medicine for old people must be a nerve tonic. Old people are beset with constipation, flatulency, drowsiness, diarrhœa, indigestion, rheumatism, neuralgia. These diseases are of nervous origin. Paine's Celery Compound, that great nerve tonic, is almost a specific in these disorders, and by its regulating influence on the liver, bowels, and kidneys, removes the disorders peculiar to old age. Old people find it stimulating to the vital powers, productive of appetite, and a promoter of digestion.

Sold by druggists. $1.00. Six for $5.00. Send for eight-page paper, with many testimonials from nervous, debilitated, and aged people, who bless Paine's Celery Compound.

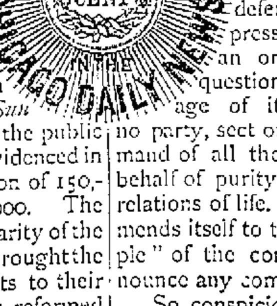
The Newspaper Revolution.

From the Rockford (Ill.) Register.]

"The era of cumbrous blanket-sheets seems coming to an end, and newspapers like the New York Sun and THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS are the prominent journalistic successes of the period. The papers that give enough reading matter to fill a good volume in each daily issue are going out of favor with many people who have some other employment for their time than the search through mountains of straw, for kernels of news. The sheets that give the news systematically and amply; and without unnecessary padding, are taking the lead in the great cities."



Forty years ago the chief duty of an editor, in view of his limited facilities, was to gather all the news he could and print it. Intelligence was transmitted slowly; many occurrences of interest were never heard of beyond their immediate locality; ocean mails were long in transit, and the overthrow of an European dynasty was not known here until long after the event. Suddenly there came a change. The railroad and the telegraph superseded old methods, and the newspaper was literally flooded with news. The death of a petty ward politician in San Francisco, the result of a Presidential election, the accession of a sovereign, the outbreak of a war, and notice that a shanty had been burden in Texas, all were hurried over the wires into the newspaper offices, and there being no idea of discrimination, all were printed. Thus originated the "blanket sheet." The publisher who could send out the biggest blanket for a nickel was the most enterprising; the biggest paper was the best; it was a period of bigness. But after a time the very excess of the evil brought the remedy, and there began an era of discrimination, during which arose such journals as the New York Sun and THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS. That the public appreciated the new departure is best evidenced in the fact that the Sun reached a circulation of 150,000 a day, and THE DAILY NEWS 175,000. The wonderful and constantly growing popularity of the condensed, low-priced papers has so far brought the cumbrous and high-priced blanket-sheets to their senses, that they have now somewhat reformed both as to size and price, but they are still too far removed from the true ideal of American journalism to meet the needs of the great majority.

In the west THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS has been the first to appreciate and meet the situation, and it now enjoys the results of its twelve years of pioneer work in a daily circulation averaging over three times that of any of its contemporaries, and considerably more than the circulations of all other Chicago dailies combined. It is hardly necessary to say that such a circulation could not be attained, much less maintained, except by a paper of high grade of excellence, as well as one sold at a popular price. To win such recognition the cheap paper must be as good a newspaper as the best of of its higher-priced competitors. And this THE DAILY NEWS certainly is. It is a member of the Associated Press, and is the only paper in Chicago which possesses a franchise which secures to it both the day and night dispatches of the Association. In the general field of news-gathering it represents in the highest degree the progressive enterprise of American journalism: as a news-paper it challenges comparison with any in the land! In its editorial columns THE DAILY NEWS speaks from the standpoint of the independent newspaper, and thereby escapes the temptation of impairing honest and honorable influence by condoning or defending the questionable under the pressure of party allegiance. It is not an organ, neither is it a neutral in questions of principle. It has the courage of its convictions. The organ of no party, sect or interest, it voices the united demand of all those better elements of society in behalf of purity, honesty and decency in all the relations of life. By just so much as it thus commends itself to the regard of the truly "best people" of the community does it voluntarily renounce any community of interest with all others.

So conspicuous a success must have its imitators, and THE DAILY NEWS has the endorsement such imitation always bestows. However as it is the only one-cent paper in Chicago or the West which is a member of the Associated Press—all other Chicago Associated Press papers cost 3 cents—all imitation must continue, so far as news-giving value is concerned, to be but imitation. THE CHICAGO DAILY NEWS is "the original," "the best."

Sold by all newsdealers at ONE CENT per copy, six cents per week. Mailed, postage paid, for $3.00 per year, or 25 cents per month. Every farmer can now have his daily paper at little more than the cost of the old time weekly. Address

DEATH IN THE STORM.

Terrible Work of the Late Cyclone In Maryland.

NINE PERSONS LOSE THEIR LIVES.

Several Others Badly Hurt—Residents Along the Alleghony and Monongahela Rivers Driven from Their Homes by High Water.

KILLED BY A CYCLONE.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 23.—A dispatch from Still Pond, Kent County, gives particulars of the cyclone that on Tuesday afternoon wrought such destruction in that neighborhood. The large frame building occupied as a canning establishment by Black & Krebs, of Baltimore, was struck about 4:30 o'clock and completely demolished. About 100 men, women and children were at work, and in their efforts to escape from the wreck nine were killed outright, three were dangerously hurt and a number slightly injured by the falling timbers. The storm demolished many houses and barns and swept clean all the orchards in the vicinity. The dwelling of William Willis was crushed like an egg-shell, and Willis was fatally injured about the head. The storm came from the southwest and swept across the State diagonally, in a track about two miles in width. On the west side of Chesapeake bay there was considerable damage. Frame houses and barns were crushed and growing crops were swept away.

FLOODS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 23.—The flood has almost reached its limit here, and will not reach a disastrous height. The low lands, however, are submerged, and the damage will be quite heavy.

The water is now receding and will soon allow the residents of the flats to return to their homes. The loss is estimated at $1,000,000. Four deaths are reported—Rev. N. D. C. Corning, and F. C. Orth, an architect, of this city, Moses Calvin, of Monongahela, City, and an unknown German of McKeesport. The two former were drowned while making a canoeing trip down the river. Mr. Corning was one of the most prominent ministers of the city.

High water in the Delaware, Lehigh and Schuylkill rivers has carried away several bridges and caused washouts on the roads.

The rain in the mountains and up the Monongahela river was almost unprecedented. For over twenty-four hours the down-pour was incessant, and all the small streams were terribly swollen. In many places they overflowed their banks and floated large districts. Raccoon creek, which flows through the central portion of Burgerstown on the Pan-handle road, leaped over its boundaries, and as a result the whole lower portion of the town was submerged. Gardens were destroyed, while driftwood and the increasing volume of water placed many houses in imminent peril. Reports from the adjoining districts state that the valleys are all overflowed and the damage to crops can scarcely be estimated. Bridges, stables and out-buildings were whirled away before the rushing flood, and the scene is one of great devastation.

At McKeesport the flats are under water and several mills have been compelled to suspend operations. The ice pond on the hill burst and the flood swept down Whites Hollow, overturning two houses on Fifth avenue. The inmates fortunately escaped. An Italian laborer was in the Long Run culvert when it went down and was drowned or covered by tons of debris.

At Greensburg the great rain left many traces of its devastation. In the fair-grounds the water at some points was eight feet deep, covering the entire track and overturning the horse-stable. The view on the Pennsylvania railroad, looking down to East Greensburg valley, seems like a great river rushing on as far as the eye can carry. Many people were driven from their homes, and the water swamped the feed store of David McElvoy and the general store of Mr. Jacob Fries.

The Hungarian camp below town was submerged, and many of the Huns barely escaped drowning. At Jeanette, where the Sellers-McKees glass works are being erected and have just gone into operation, two-thirds of the plant is under water, and it is reported that eighty of the houses belonging to the Western Land and Improvement Company are under water. The boarding house of Hitarins Youergst, near the glass-works, is reported floating down the Rush creek, and many Italians had to swim out to save their lives. The towns of Larimer, Shafton, Irwin, Penn and Manor are partially under water, and many of the inhabitants are living in the upper stories of their houses. In the mountains the headwaters of Bald Eagle creek, Spruce creek and Junction river are swollen beyond all bounds, and an August freshet, great in destruction, covers the Blair, Cambria, Bedford, Centre and Huntingdon sections of Pennsylvania. In this city the water got up into the fly-pits of many of the mills and factories, and caused a suspension of work. The Polish inhabitants of Shanty-town were again compelled to remove their goods, and are now encamped on the banks of the river. In Allegheny City a row of seven new frame houses in Pleasant Valley were wrecked by a land-slide. The loss is about $3,500. The Exposition grounds and lowlands are covered with water, but the loss will be trifling.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—In Boston, by the flooding of cellars, considerable loss was occasioned.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23.—Further losses from the storm here are reported. The tug Henry Lowery lost a tow with 80,000 bushels of wheat. The loss is $40,000.

Goff for Governor.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 23.—The Republican State convention met in this city and nominated the following candidates for State officers: For Governor, General Nathan Goff, of Harrison County, now representing the First district in Congress; William P. Hubbard, of Ohio County, for Attorney-General; George M. Bowers, of Berkley County, for Auditor; Hiram T. Lewis, of Clay County, for Treasurer.

Tired Out by the Sioux.

BISMARCK, D. T., Aug. 23.—At an early hour the Sioux Commissioners at Standing Rock boarded the steamer Rosebud and bade farewell to the thousands of Indians whose hearts of steel they failed to soften. They will next tackle the Crow Creek Indians.

The "White Pasha."

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The Cologne Gazette publishes letters from correspondents at Cairo ridiculing the stories in circulation about the "White Pasha," which, the letters allege, were concocted by mendacious Mecca pilgrims.

A Volcanoes Victims.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 23.—The latest returns from the Bandai San (Japan) earthquake puts the number of killed at 470 and the injured at forty-one.

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relied on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Get a free trial bottle at F. Sherer & Co's. Drug store.

ARCHIE REID.

A HANDSOME SURPRISE.

How a Good-Natured "Widow" Was Deceived by Her "Late" Husband.

The departments of the United States Government are usually decorous places carried on with solemnity and dignity, and not given to scenes; nevertheless, something occurred at the Pension Office not long ago, which makes one wish Dickens were alive to do it full justice—nobody else could; but still, writes the Washington correspondent of the New York Independent, it is too good to lose entirely.

The usual work was going on in one of the rooms, when suddenly a sound of bumping and thumping became audible, and then a struggling, thumping, irregular noise as if a section of a stone wall were trying to walk up-stairs and found it needed more joints than had been supposed. It grew louder and louder, and was accompanied once in a while with a faint sound of a voice remonstrating as if the stone wall took it hard and wanted to give it up. It drew nearer and then stopped outside the door with a final bump and thump, and a sort of triumphant grunt from the accompanying voice. Then the door opened and a man with sweat standing on his forehead, throwing the door wide open, engineered with another series of thumps a large, flat white stone around in front of the astonished clerk, and said: "There! in triumphant tones. "There! now perhaps you will believe me. I brought you papers and affidavits no end, and you wouldn't believe them. Perhaps you'll believe this when you see his tombstone. There you read it: 'Sacred to the memory of J—— S——. Erected by his bereaved widow.' His tombstone is here before your eyes to prove he's dead, and now perhaps you'll believe it;" and he sat down and wiped his forehead.

The astonished clerk read the epitaph, but without the crestfallen air the advancer of tombstones expected. A gleam of a smile appeared around his eyes and at the corners of his mouth. He turned to a man sitting near, a man with a damaged looking face, and with clothes the worse for wear, and a lame leg done up in a frowsy way with coarse bandages.

"Well, I wouldn't a-thought it of Sarah Jane," and he smote his other leg with a fat hand, bristling with hairs. "I must say it's handsome in her—all the same. I'm glad I ain't under it. 'Tain't often a man reads his own epitaph;" and he turned to the other who had brought it in, with a rough grin, an appreciation of the scene coming over him.

"You—you meant to leave her—you ain't dead?" stammered the other.

"I ain't half dead, 'n I meant to leave her till I heard she was gettin' a pension on my merits, 'n I couldn't stand that. She a-rolling in luxury and me a hard-workin' man. I've come back to roll, too, or else stop her fun."

The advancer of tombstones arose and prepared to withdraw with his strong proof.

"Of all the mean men"—and then he paused, unable to think of any parallel, and a thought occurred to him. "You'll be wantin' this some time; hadn't you better take it against the need?"

But the damaged man waved it away—"The date would be wrong."

EXPLODING A CAYMAN.

How an Old Tar Exterminated a Voracious Crocodile.

"Yes," said Uncle Cap, "I have not only seen hundreds of alligators and crocodiles in the course of my wanderings, but I once had the pleasure of destroying in a novel and most effectual manner a great man-eating cayman, as the crocodile is called in South America."

"Was he like my alligator?" asked Bryce.

"Very like him, the only difference being that while your alligator is about sixteen inches long, my cayman was a little over sixteen feet, and as ugly a looking monster as ever swam. I had been detached from the Porpoise, and ordered to explore a portion of Venezuela, in company with a party of American engineers, who were constructing a telegraph line for the Government of that country. We were following down a tributary of the great river Orinoco, and rested one Sunday at a little village on the bank of the stream. During the afternoon, as we were all lying asleep in our hammocks, there came a terrible screaming and crying from the village, and we ran to see what was up.

"It seemed that several boys had been bathing in the river just below the village, when all at once, without the slightest warning, one of them had been seized and drawn under the turbid waters by the great 'devil cayman', as the Indians called one of these creatures which had long been a terror to the community.

"I suggested to the chief of the engineers, a fine young fellow named Roberts, that we set a trap for the man-eater, and after explaining my idea, got him to agree to try it. As we were to be in that vicinity for several days, we waited until we thought it was about time for the cayman to be hungry again. Then we shot a fat monkey, sewed inside of him a stone bottle containing five pounds of powder, inserted in it the ends of two long coils of fine wire, bound these to strong ropes of equal length, and connected the other ends with the little test battery that we carried.

"When all was ready we floated our bait, upheld by two inflated bladders, near where the boy had been seized, and crouched in the bushes to await developments. We had waited in perfect silence for more than an hour, and were about ready to give it up, when there came a ripple in the water, and a huge head, with horrid open jaws, was cautiously lifted. Then the jaws closed with a snap upon our bait, the head instantly disappeared, and the ropes began to run swiftly out, showing that the monster was making for deep water. I had charge of the battery, and quickly connected the wires. Like a flash there came a deep muffled explosion, a torrent of blood-stained water was thrown high in the air, and mingled with it were fragments of the scaly hide of the monster, in whose side a hole two feet square had been blown.

"The poor natives were at first terrified, then mystified, and finally overjoyed at the success of our experiment, and ever afterward they treated us like beings possessed of supernatural powers. Notwithstanding this, we noticed that the boys did not seem to care for bathing for some time afterward."

"The left foot, please," said a shoe dealer as a customer was about to test the size of a pair of shoes by trying one upon his right foot. "You see," explained the dealer, "the left foot is larger than the right. Every body to whom I make that statement is surprised, for people believe that in the case of the feet as well as the hands the right is the larger. Observation has convinced me, however, that while the right hand is larger than the left, the left foot is larger than the right."

To Destroy Vermin.

A novel means of destroying caterpillars and other animated pests of trees and shrubbery is the juice of the leaves and stems of tomato plants. Boil the leaves and stems of the tomato until the juice has been extracted and pour this upon the afflicted shrubs and trees.

The Road Healthward Made Easier.

If you have been ill, we will suppose, and are convalescing slowly. That is, you are trying to pick up a little flesh, to regain some of your wonted color, to accustom your stomach to more solid nutriment than its recently enfeebled condition permitted you to take. How can you accelerate your snail's pace healthward? We are warranted by concurrent testimony in affirming, that if you will use twice or thrice a day Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an enabling medicine of long ascertained purity and tonic virtues, that you will be materially aided. It promotes a flow of the gastric juices, and helps the system to assimilate the nourishment of which it stands so much in need. It remedies a tendency to constipation without convulsing the bowels. The liver it stimulates to new activity, safely promotes the action of the kidneys and bladder, and annihilates malaria and rheumatism at the outset.

A SENSATION.

The people are getting crazy over the Moxie Nerve Food. All the nervous, weakly women are talking about it because it takes that terrible tired feeling away so quick and keeps it off on 3 cents worth of the syrup per day. It is an artificially digested nerve food only. The men are as bad, for it breaks up the effects of dissipation and overwork in a few hours and no stimulation or reaction. It is a newly discovered process of preparing the food used by the nerves, artificially, for the purpose of giving people their full complement of nerve power, when the stomach is not able to digest it for that purpose. Overworked people take enormous quantities of it. It contains neither medicine nor alcohol.

Resolutions of Thanks.

The following resolutions were adopted at the recent meeting of the Teacher's Institute held at Milton:

Resolved, That we, the members of the Teachers' Institute held at Milton from August 13 to 17 inclusive, hereby express our sincere thanks

I. To Profs. Pray and Clark for their patient, earnest and untiring efforts in conducting the institute.

II. To Dr. Stearns for his able and instructive lecture on School and Life.

III. To Supt. Chandler, Pres. Parker Prof. Wright and others for their presence and assistance.

IV. To our Supt., Prof. Thom, for his successful management.

V. To the citizens of this place for their generous hospitality and many favors.

VI. To President Whitford, for the use of the college building; also the S. D. B. Society for the use of their church.

Resolved, That we undertake to carry from this institute to our respective fields of labor, a higher conception of our duties as teachers; to cultivate more of a professional spirit in our work; and that we will do all in our power to make our schools better during the coming year than they were last year; also

Resolved, That we request the publication of these resolutions in the papers of Milton, Janesville, Beloit and Clinton.

Dr. F. B. Brewer.

Dr. Brewer makes chronic ailments his specialty, devoting his entire attention to the investigation of their causes and the search for remedies for their cure and alleviation. He is thoroughly educated as a physician, and by long practice of the healing art has come to a full knowledge of the causes of the various forms of chronic diseases and the proper remedy. When informed of the symptoms and duration of the disease he will at once, and honestly, tell the applicant the prospect for an ultimate cure.

Dr. Brewer makes his next visit to the Park house in this city on Thursday, the 30th day of August.

A Frightful Skin Disease.

Sufferings Intense. Head Nearly Raw. Body Covered with Sores. Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

MESSRS. STEVENS & BRUNER, Monroe, N. C.

DEAR SIRS: About two months ago, on your recommendation, I bought a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, one box Cuticura Salve, and one cake of Cuticura Soap, for my son, aged thirteen years, who has been afflicted with eczema for a long time, and I am pleased to say I believe the remedies have cured him. His sufferings were intense, his head being nearly raw, his ears being gone except the gristle, and his body was covered with sores. His condition was frightful to behold. The sores have now all disappeared, his skin is healthy, eyes bright, cheerful in disposition, and is working every day. My neighbors are witnesses to this remarkable cure, and the doubting ones are requested to call or write me, or any of my neighbors.

The Potter Drug and Chemical Co.:

GENTLEMEN,—Mr. W. S. Stephenson of this county brought his son to town to-day, to let us see him. This is the case referred to in our letter to you some time ago. To look at the boy now, one would suppose that there had never been anything the matter with him—seems to be in perfect health. We have written and herewith inclose what his father has to say about the matter,—wrote it just as he dictated.

We are selling quite a quantity of Cuticura Remedies and hear nothing but praises for them. We regard the Cuticura Remedies the best in the market, and shall do all in my power to promote their sale. Yours truly,

STEVENS & BRUNER,
Druggists and Pharmacists.

Sneezing Catarrh

The distressing sneeze, sneeze, sneeze, the acrid, watery discharges from the eyes and nose, the painful inflammation extending to the throat, the swelling of the mucous lining, causing choking sensations, cough, ringing noises in the head and splitting headache—how familiar these symptoms are to thousands who suffer periodically from head colds or influenza, and who live in ignorance of the fact that a single application of Sanford's Radical Cure for Catarrh will afford instantaneous Relief.

But this treatment in cases of simple Catarrh gives but a faint idea of what this remedy will do in the chronic forms, where the breathing is obstructed by choking, putrid mucous accumulations, the hearing affected, smell and taste gone, throat ulcerated and hacking cough gradually fastening itself upon the debilitated system. Then it is that the marvelous curative power of Sanford's Radical Cure manifests itself in instantaneous and grateful relief. Cure begins from the first application. It is rapid, radical, permanent, economical, safe.

Sanford's Radical Cure consists of one bottle of the Radical Cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and one Improved Inhaler, all wrapped in one package, with treatise and directions, and sold by all druggists for $1.00.

DRUNKENNESS Or the Liquor Habit, Positively Cured by Administering Dr. Haines' Golden Specific.

It can be given in a cup of coffee or tea without the knowledge of the person taking it; is absolutely harmless, and will effect a speedy and permanent cure, whether the patient is a moderate drinker or an alcoholic wreck. Thousands of drunkards have been made temperate men who have taken Golden Specific in their coffee without their knowledge and to-day believe they quit drinking of their own free will. IT NEVER FAILS. The system once impregnated with the Specific, it becomes an utter impossibility for the liquor appetite to exist. For sale by FRANK SHERER, Druggist, 43 W. EXTENDING WATER MAINS.

The Petitions to be Considered by the Council on Friday Evening.

Nearly Two and a Half Miles of Pipe and Thirty-Two Hydrants.

At the adjourned meeting of the common council on to-morrow (Friday) evening, petitions for the extension of the water mains will be presented and acted on as follows:

On Terrace street, from Ravine street to Mineral Point avenue—1,072 feet.

On West Bluff street, from Academy to Jackson street—660 feet.

On Milton avenue, from Hyatt street to St. Mary's avenue—1,155 feet.

On Prospect avenue, (Harmony street) from Milton avenue to Milwaukee street, and then westerly on Milwaukee avenue to Harrison street—2,302 feet.)

On Court street, from Jackman street to Forest Park Boulevard—1,815 feet.

On Racine street, from South Main to South Third streets by way of Garfield avenue and Jackman street—2,557 feet.

On Hickory street, from Glen to Walker street—1,320 feet.

On North Main street, from Fourth avenue to Glen street—742 feet.

On South Main street, from "dead end" to Sharon street—990 feet.

The above, according to the "Locke map," from which the measurements are taken, aggregate 12,703 feet, and would call for thirty-two additional fire hydrants at $25 per year rental each, or $800 per year, making the total hydrant rental $5,000.

The residents of the fourth and fifth wards are yet to hear from.

"The extension of the water mains for fire protection is one thing, and the extension for domestic consumption or to accommodate water takers is another," remarked Mayor Winans at Monday night's council meeting. Some of the extensions in the above named petitions have for their sol purpose protection against fire, while others are solely for the benefit of domestic consumers, and the council should handle these petitions with great care at the outset. With the exception of a very few outlying points the present line of mains give very good fire protection to all property not classed as farming lands. There are many miles of streets within the plotted district—well dotted with substantial residences—that now receive adequate protection from the pipe line on parallel or adjacent streets. Many of the owners and occupants of this property desire to become consumers of water furnished by the water company, and the moment the council extends the mains directly or indirectly for the accommodation of water consumers on this or that street, in justice to all the pipe should be extended to every dwelling in the city.

Residents on High street desired water for domestic use, and made satisfactory arrangements with the water company and the line was extended without additional cost to the public. No doubt a number of water consumers in any other portion of the city can obtain similar benefits.

To keep a steam fire engine ready for use in the outlying districts as suggested by the Recorder would necessitate an expense greater than the rental of sufficient hydrants to protect every piece of property on plotted ground in the city not now protected.

Some extensions are absolutely needed for the better protection of property on the outskirts and these should be designated and ordered as soon as possible, that is, if the people desire to use the water works for this purpose, and the hydrant rental ought not to exceed five thousand dollars. But if it is for domestic use, then the council should order extensions whenever half a dozen petitioners ask for it, and no one can find fault. Consider the question raised very carefully, gentlemen, and not understandingly; form no combination for the benefit of this or that locality, and whatever is decided upon let it be uniform throughout the whole city.

BRIEFLETS.

—Judge O. R. Gibbs, of Whitewater, was in the city to-day.

—Services will be resumed at the Baptist church next Sunday morning.

Major S. S. Rockwood, of the Portage Register, is attending the reunion of the Thirteenth.

—A return game will probably be played by the Sioux and the Mutuals on Saturday.

—Miss Nellie Foreman, of Chicago, is in the city, the guest of Miss Kittie Myers at the Myers house.

—Miss Gene Sturtevant, of Oshkosh, is spending a few weeks with Miss Mame Whiting, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Whiting.

—Janesville Commandery No. 2, Knights Templar, assemble in regular semi-monthly conclave this evening at Masonic hall.

—The gross receipts at the ball game Tuesday afternoon for the benefit of the city hospital were $87.55; expenses, $7.25; net, $80.30.

—Associate Justice (Colonel) Wm. P. Lyon, of Madison, is attending the reunion of his old regiment in this city—the Thirteenth.

—Associate Justice J. B. Cassoday, of the Wisconsin supreme court, is in the city to-day, and was among the many pleasant callers at the Gazette office.

—Miss Nellie Seaton, of Cambridge, Illinois, having completed a pleasant visit of two weeks with relatives here, returned to Chicago to-day enroute for home.

—Summer sports in Janesville come high. One young man spent twenty-seven dollars inside of ten minutes trying to show a traveling man the points in seven-up.

—Sheriff C. A. Matson, of Chicago, was among those attending the 13th Regiment reunion to-day. Sitting beside him was S. S. Obourn, of Milton, the two looking enough like twins to pass muster anywhere.

—"This is what I call hard lines," said an east side business man this morning. "My baby up home is over a week old, and I haven't been able to kiss it or have anything to do with it yet, because I've had the whooping cough ever since the youngster was born."

—Have you the base ball fever still? Somebody asked Joe P. Baker this morning. "Oh, yes. I have it in spots, was the feeling response. "I keep finding new spots where I have it every little while, and he rubbed his knee and limped over towards the arnica bottle.

—John Tuckwood smiled on his friends this morning from behind the counter of one of the prettiest restaurants ever opened in Janesville. Davies' Bros. store has been very handsomely fitted up and patrons flocked in this noon until the tables were filled. Under Mr. Tuckwood's management it is safe to say that the restaurant will be a success.

—Prof. Albert Salisbury, president of the State Normal School at Whitewater, was among the pleasant callers at the Gazette office this afternoon. He is attending the Thirteenth reunion, being one of the veterans of Company H. Prof. Salisbury is said to be the first white person born in the town of Lima, this county.

REPUBLICAN WARD CAUCUSES

Saturday Evening, August 25th, at 7:30 o'clock.

The republican electors of the several wards of the city are requested to assemble in caucus on Saturday evening, August 25th, at 7:30 o clock, for the purpose of electing delegates to the county convention to be held at the court house in this city, on Wednesday, August 29th, at 12 o'clock, noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for the several county officers. The several wards will be entitled to delegates as follows:—First ward, 7; Second ward 5; Third ward, 4; Fourth Ward, 6; Fifth Ward, 2.

The caucuses will be held at the following places:

First Ward—At the engine house in said ward.

Second Ward—At the engine house in said ward.

Third Ward—At the court house.

Fourth Ward—At the common council room.

Fifth Ward—At Dr. Q. O. Sutherland's office, South Franklin street.

BY ORDER OF COMMITTEES.

Janesville, August 23d, 1888.

A PROMISING FIRST NIGHT.

Miss Damon in Her New Farce Comedy Well Received.

A notable event in more ways than one was Miss Alberta Damon's appearance last evening.

In the first place it was the opening of the 1888-'89 season of Myers opera house, although interest in this was somewhat lessened by the fact that nobody had realized that the preceding season was over. But besides this it was Miss Damon's first appearance as a star; and it was also the first presentation of Harry B. Smith's farce comedy, The Scarecrow. A number of Chicago people, including the author; Manager Will J. Davis, of the Haymarket, and a number of other well-known newspaper and theatrical men were expected but were delayed and will arrive on the St. Paul express this evening.

A very flattering first-night audience was the one that greeted Miss Damon when the curtain rose. Many of the best known society people of the city were included and the winsome little soubrette was given a warm welcome. Throughout the evening there was constant applause. It was evident that whatever lack of smoothness there was, was due to the newness of the production; and was more than made up for by the spirit with which the company entered into their work.

Miss Damon appears as Madge, a happy-go-lucky maiden who is taken from the country to the city and there by her country toilettes wins the title of "the scare crow." She is a comedienne differing in many respects from any now on the stage. Her acting has about it less of the boistrous element and in the part now given she finds opportunity for the display of all her talent. Especially is this true in a musical way, her songs being bright and catchy.

Richard Carrol, who appears as leading man, takes the part of Ivory Black, an itinerant sign painter. On him has fallen much of the burden of preparing the piece for the stage, and he deserves much credit for the success achieved.

Low Hawkins, as "Smiley Fake," the newspaper reporter, takes the place of John Gilbert, who is unable to appear on account of sickness. Mr. Hawkins did well, and by his specialties won much applause. But to descriminate in a company of such uniform excellence is difficult. Joe F Donier, as "Old Todger;" Lee Harrison, of Bunch of Key fame, as "Howe Green," Miss Bertha Fay as "Susan G. Lockwood," the woman's suffrage agitator, and Misses Jessie Quigley, Mattie Lipman, Nettie Pettit and Jess Warner as the four school girls were all praiseworthy and made up a cast of unusual strength.

To-night will show the piece changed in many ways, the changes being those suggested by last night's presentation. New music will be introduced, and this with to-day's rehearsals will strengthen the production greatly.

Coal, Wood and Feed.

I do not claim to be John L. Sullivan to knock the stuffing out of everybody; nor do I claim to be P. T. Barnum to humbug the people; but I do claim to sell the genuine Scranton coal, all sizes; Indiana block, Hocking Valley, Piedmont and Cumberland coal as cheap as any firm in the city. Also two hundred cords of good maple wood, second growth poplar etc. Orders taken at J. H. Jones and W. T. Vankirk's stores Office, warehouse and yard 302 West Milwaukee street. Telephone No. 104. Send in your orders. There will probably be an advance in the price of coal the first of next month.

TALKING OVER OLD DAYS.

Thirteenth Regiment Veterans Meet Again in the Bower City.

A Day of Camp Fire Stories and of War Time Reminiscences.

"Why, this seems like old times. Do you remember the day we rolled out of here in '62—how the snow blocked the tracks and how we crossed the Missouri river on the ice?"

"Well I should say. I'd like to have one of those old guns we drilled with up there on the fair grounds. Mine had the barrel bent so I could hang it over my my shoulder."

"I've got one thing here that I'd just as soon let some one else have," and the speaker showed on his ankle just above the shoe top a scar two inches in diameter. "A bullet from Donelson went through there," continued the speaker, "and I've got one or two others of the same sort."

It was in Post hall this morning, and the speakers were veterans attending the 13th Regiment reunion. All morning little groups had been clustered about the hall, talking over the days gone by. For twelve years the Old Thirteenth has held its annual reunion, and this year the attendance was something over one hundred.

No formal programme was taken up. The morning was spent in renewing old acquaintances and bringing up war-time reminiscences.

At noon Captain Pliny Norcross entertained his Co. K comrades around the tables of the Myers House. When the dinner was over toasts were drank and a feeling response was made by Captain Norcross.

The regiment met again in Post hall at two o'clock this afternoon and short speeches were made by several of those present. The business to be considered by the reunion is under discussion as the Gazette goes to press.

It was intended to hold the reunion at Crystal Springs but this was impossible on account of the Caledonian picnic. Consequently the muster-roll was kept at Grand Army headquarters. It showed the following names:

BUILDING ASSOCIATION NEWS.

Notes of Interest to Janesville Stock Holders.

In the recent recital of defalcations in the United States during the past ten years it is remarkable how few have happened in these societies. In 1883 the total amount stolen was two and a third millions, none of it from Building Associations. In 1885 more than three millions were taken, when three societies were losers. In 1886 one of these organizations was a small sufferer out of sixty-six robbings. The percentage of loss has been much less then in any other financial societies.

The Mutual Loan and Building Society of Milwaukee is very solid and prosperous. Its by-laws provide for a uniform rate of loaning money at ten per cent interest and fifteen per cent premium. Its funds are loaned out as fast as received. Hundreds of homes have been secured in that city by means of this association.

Claus Spreckles is erecting a sugar refinery in Philadelphia at a cost of two and half millions of dollars. He was drawn to that city by the thriftiness of its residents and its stability and certainty of labor. These characteristics have been establishe by the influenced of the Building Associations of Philadelphia.

A gentleman writing from Aberdeen, Dakota, says that "over fifty Building Associations have recently been started in St. Paul and Minneapolis, which have agents traveling all over the country making in some cases representations which they cannot come within 60 per cent. of carying out." Some of these agents have appeared in this city.

The Building Association in our neighboring city of Rockford is very prosperous. It has issued 7644 shares and its loans are over $250,000; and no money lies idle in the treasury. Scores and hundreds of homes have been obtained in that city through the agency of this association.

In Winona, Minnesota, the average premium for six years was 43 per cent. Building operations have been quiet in that city recently and over 600 shares of stock have been retired during the last year.

Even New Orleans, the home of that iniquity, the Louisiana State Lottery, has some flourishing Building Associations. One of them has just issued its third annual report which shows assets of $220,246.49.

There are some $3,000 in the treasury of the Janesville association. It will be disposed of at the meeting Friday evening of this week at Mr. Whitehead's office.

A CALEDONIAN CARNIVAL.

Crystal Springs Lively With Scotch Picnickers.

Ever since this morning the line of Rock county's Scotchmen and their families that wended its way along Main street has been unbroken. It stretched from Milwaukee street to the dock of the Enterprise. At the dock the line was broken hopelessly, but only to be made into groups and sent off over the water toward Crystal Springs.

At the Springs Caledonia held high carnival. There was music and dancing, sack races, foot races, hurdle races; boys and girls' races; leaping, vaulting, quoiting, tossing the caber, throwing the hammer and a grand tug-of-war between city and country teams.

Among those that took part in the games were D. A. McMillan, Jack Carkeek and A. Lynch, all well-know wrestlers and all-around athletes, who arrived from Milwaukee last evening.

This evening the picnic is to be concluded by a dancing party.

SUBDUING THE INDIANS.

The Mutuals Defeat the Sioux by a Score of 12 to 1.

The Mutuals kept their record up handsomely in the game yesterday. The Indians put in a strong battery but on other points were weak, while the Mutuals played a very strong game throughout.

McGinley and Dixon composed the Janesville battery and kept most of the visitors from getting even as far as first base. The game was won by the Mutuals by a score of 12 to 1.

Pears' is the purest and best soap ever made.

THE WEATHER.

At seven o'clock this morning the thermometer indicated 51 degrees above zero. Clear with southwest wind At one o'clock p. m the register was 81 degrees above zero Clear with southwest wind. For the corresponding hours one year ago the register was 53 and 65 degrees above zero.

Edmunds Can't Take Part.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—In a letter to the National Republican Campaign Committee stating that he will be unable to make any more campaign speeches this year Senator Edmunds says: "All my hopes and wishes are in the success of our candidates in the present campaign. It is not therefore from any embarrassment connected either with our cause or our candidates that I have been obliged to decline public speaking. It is physically impossible for me to speak out of doors and very nearly so in any large hall filled with people."

John L. Disabled.

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—John L. Sullivan had his thumb and fore finger injured by a bullet while holding a coin to be shot at and will be unable to fight for some time.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE.

The Janesville Building Association's Record for the First Eighteen Months.

A Showing of Profit That Speaks Well for Those Who are in Charge.

"What has the association accomplished?"

This question, frequently repeated, made Secretary Burnham of the Building and Loan Association, wonder if a report of the association's progress would not be of value. Reports are required only, once in six months; but seeing that a complete statement would do much to gain the attention of borrowers as well as investors, he decided to prepare such a statement.

The report, which will soon be issued, has involved much work. It is a complete statement of the association's progress from the first, and shows that Janesville's society compares favorably with any society of the kind in the state. The first eighteen months' profit have been larger than those of any society yet organized.

As will be seen the financial affairs of the association are in excellent shape. Stock in the first series is now valued at $10.30 a share, the other series being quoted in proportion. A statement of the business done by the association during its eighteen months of existence is as follows:

MILTON JUNCTION.

—L. Cutter, wife and son, former residents of this place, arrived in town on Wednesday of last week, on a visit. Mr. Cutter is now traveling for J. Newberger & Co., of Chicago.

—Dr. A. S. Maxson moved into his new house on Albion street last Wednesday.

—Quite a number of democrats were over from Edgerton to attend the democratic rally last Wednesday night.

—G. H. Button visited Chicago last week on business.

—M. P. Rankin and family, and Misses Pearl Smalley and Inez Jones, were camping at Clear Lake last week.

—The Junction band boys gave an ice cream entertainment in Patrons of Husbandry hall last Thursday night.

—Last Friday the engine and mail and express car of the 11:45 passenger train on the C. & N. W. R., was derailed—caused by an open switch. They had just unloaded a separator from a flat car at the depot, and had run the car on a sidetrack. In the hurry they neglected to connect the main track, thus leaving a break. The train was not going fast, which prevented a general smash up.

—Alex McRea left Tuesday morning for Fredericksburg, Iowa. He owns a farm at that place, and has gone on a business trip.

—The band boys are to have a dance in Patrons of Husbandry hall on Thursday night.

—Wm. Paul received a piece of the rope that was used to hang Maxwell at St. Louis. It was sent him by Sheriff Harrington, of that place.

—Mrs. R. J. Greenman, daughter Stella and Miss Snyder left Tuesday for St. Peter, Minnesota. Mrs. Greenman and Stella expect to stay about two months. Miss Snyder will probably remain, as it is her home.

—Sheriff Mattson, of Chicago, was on the derailed train and had quite a chat with his old friends.

—A. Thompson is on the sick list.

—Allen Osmond's little boy fell from a wagon and broke his arm one day last week.

—Mrs. Cook, of Chicago, sister of the Clarke brothers, and Mrs. Clarke, of Beloit, their brother's wife, visited at M. J. Clarke's last week.

—Miss Ada Crandall, of Edgerton, was in town Saturday.

—Mrs. Brewer, daughter and granddaughter, of St. Louis, arrived here Saturday on a visit to the Paul family.

—Mrs. A. D. Frink and daughter Ella started for Adams county, Wis, Tuesday to visit relatives.

—Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Hutson started for the east Tuesday.

—Mr. Vealy, of Chatsworth, Ill., is visiting at R. Thorpe's.

—Ed Seeger, our tailor, has commenced the cellar for his new house.

—Quite a crowd took the cars here Monday morning enroute to Leonardsville, N. Y. to attend the Seventh Day Baptist general conference.

—Miss May Frink returned home from camping out last Saturday.

—Mrs. McClafferty visited her mother and friends on the river road a couple of days last week.

—Mr. Eugene Crandall, our old time friend, of Janesville, was in town Monday on business.

—Mrs. Wadsworth, of Waukesha, who has been visiting at W. E. Bowles' the past week, left for her home Monday.

—Lex Jones' little boy is improving finely.

—S. C. Carr, J. G. Carr and Philo Gilbert have sold their '87 crop of tobacco to George Rumrill, of Porter, for 10 cents.

Serious Charges.

NEW YORK, Aug 23.—In the aqueduct investigation a contractor stated that he had been persecuted and annoyed by the commissioners and that Benjamin Lefevre, of Ohio, counsel for some of the people interested in the matter, had told him that if he would put up $150,000 for three of the commissioners he would have no more trouble. He refused to pay the money and could not tell who the commissioners were.

Allotment of Land Among Indians.

ASHLAND, Wis., Aug. 23.—An agent of the Interior Department arrived at the agency here to make allotment of 75,000 acres of land to the 660 Indians on the Fond du Lac reservation. Heads of families get 160 acres each, unmarried men and women get eighty, and the rest is sold, the profits to go to Indians, equally divided.
